Funeral Rites Reformation for Any African Ethnic Community Based on the Proposed New Funeral Practices for the

Agikuyu Johnson Nganga Mbugua, 2016-06-17 This book has been written on the premise that the mode of coping with death of virtually all African ethnic communities has taken proportions and turns that are neither cultural scriptural nor necessary. Current rites are complicated, time consuming, expensive and are leaving most families and their neighbors impoverished. They have been extremely commercialized and a large number of Africans do not have resources to bury their dead the modern way. Were the Agikuyu read Africans to curb numerous funeral demands which they deem necessary and customary when in actual fact they are not, funerals for them would become cheaper, faster and simpler, would be decent enough for the dead, would take care of those left behind and would be environmentally friendly. How Africans in the Diaspora away from their ancestral homeland should cope with death is also addressed. Also addressed is the issue of cremation. It is shown that at the resurrection God will accord us new spiritual bodies which will have no bearing with the material substance of our earthly mortal bodies.

Shakespeare in and Out of Africa Jane Plastow, Martin Banham, 2013 A key volume for Shakespeare African theatre and postcolonial cultural scholars promoting debate on the role of Western cultural icons in contemporary postcolonial cultures. This volume takes as its starting point an interrogation of the African contributions to the Globe to Globe festival staged in London in 2012 where 37 Shakespeare productions were offered, each from a different nation. Five African companies were invited to perform and there are articles on four of these productions examining issues of interculturalism, postcolonialism, language interpretation and reception. The contributors are both Shakespeare and African theatre scholars promoting discourse from a range of geographical and cultural perspectives. A critical debate about the process of the Globe to Globe festival is initiated in the form of a discussion article featuring some of its directors and actors. Two further articles look at Shakespeare productions made purely for Africa from Mauritius and Cape Verde and leading Nigerian playwright and cultural commentator Femi Osofisan provides an overview article examining Shakespeare in Africa in the 21st century. The playscript in this volume of African Theatre is Femi Osofisan's Wesoo Hamlet or the Resurrection of Hamlet.
