West, 1996 From Our Eyes redefines the place of indigenous philosophies and teachings The aim of the book is to find spaces and places that have been forgotten in the pursuit of truth It begins with the question Is there such a thing as Native American philosophy and ends with an exploration of the traditional Medicine Wheel teachings illustrating throughout the related problems of authenticity and authority Other Words Jace Weaver, 2001 Eloh a Cherokee word is usually translated by anthropologists as religion but it also simultaneously encompasses history culture knowledge law and land In this provocative work Jace Weaver interlaces these seemingly disparate meanings to form a coherent approach to Native American Studies In nineteen interrelated chapters Weaver presents a range of experiences shared by native peoples in the Americas from the distant past to the uncertain future He examines Indian creative output from oral tradition to the postmodern wordplay of Gerald Vizenor and brings to light previously overlooked texts Weaver also tackles up to the minute issues including environmental crises Native American spirituality repatriation of Indian remains and cultural artifacts and international human rights The Calling of the Nations Mark Vessey, Sharon Betcher, Robert Daum, Harry O. Maier, 2011-12-15 Current notions of nationhood communal identity territorial entitlement and collective destiny are deeply rooted in historic interpretations of the Bible Interweaving elements of history theology literary criticism and cultural theory the essays in this volume discuss the ways in which biblical understandings have shaped Western and particularly European and North American assumptions about the nature and meaning of the nation Part of the Green College Lecture Series this wide ranging collection moves from the earliest Pauline and Rabbinic exegesis through Christian imperial and missionary narratives of the late Roman medieval and early modern periods to the entangled identity politics of mainstream nineteenth and twentieth century North America Taken together the essays show that while theories of globalization postmodernism and postcolonialism have all offered critiques of identity politics and the nation state the global present remains heavily informed by biblical historical intuitions of nationhood Resources in Education , 1998

Killing Beauty in North America Constance Mills Atkins Buck PhD,2022-11-07 My great grandfather Brigadier General Anson Mills engaged in battle with the Sioux and Cheyenne Indians in South Dakota in the 1800s He led the battle against the Native people at the Battle of Slim Buttes in Montana War trophies considered sacred objects by the Indians included a beautiful beaded clothing a war bonnet with buffalo horns and a blanket strip They were only a few of the pieces I grew up with They hung on the walls of my parents home I remember as a child that I would physically cringe and contract around them I did not know why but I felt pain and heard them speak I am in pain I want to go home In the early 1970s I met the sacred Hat Carrier and other Cheyenne native people I returned the beautiful articles which were placed in the Jim Gatchell Museum in Buffalo Wyoming There are many stories told about European experiences when they landed Most stories idealize the experience of white males There are many other stories to be told This is one of them

That the People Might Live Jace Weaver, 1997-12-18 Loyalty to the community is the highest value in Native American cultures argues Jace Weaver In That the People Might Live he explores a wide range of Native American literature from 1768 to the present taking this sense of community as both a starting point and a lens Weaver considers some of the best known Native American writers such as Leslie Marmon Silko Gerald Vizenor and Vine Deloria as well as many others who are receiving critical attention here for the first time He contends that the single thing that most defines these authors writings and makes them deserving of study as a literature separate from the national literature of the United States is their commitment to Native community and its survival He terms this commitment communitism a fusion of community and activism The Native American authors are engaged in an ongoing quest for community and write out of a passionate commitment to it They write literally that the People might live Drawing upon the best Native and non Native scholarship including the emerging postcolonial discourse as well as a close reading of the writings themselves Weaver adds his own provocative insights to help readers to a richer understanding of these too often neglected texts A scholar of religion he also sets this literature in the context of Native cultures and religious traditions and explores the tensions between these traditions and Christianity
