Subcommittee,1969 The Publishers' Trade List Annual ,1956 Children's Emotions in Europe, 1500 - 1900

Jeroen J. H. Dekker,2024-04-04 This book gives you the historical sensation of coming face to face with the bodily expression and regulation of children's emotions over time The study does this by encouraging you to look through the eyes of well known artists like Albrecht Dürer, Domenico Ghirlandaio, Jan Steen, Antony van Dyck, Rembrandt and Titian in early modern Europe and Jean Baptiste Simon Chardin, Thomas Lawrence, Jean Honor Fragonard, Philipp Otto Runge, Willem Bartel van der Kooi, Paul Gauguin, Auguste Renoir and Jozef Israëls in the late 18th and 19th centuries These sources are supplemented by works from less famous artists as well as popular emblem books, child advice manuals, observations from the emerging child sciences and personal documents Jeroen Dekker observes children's emotions mainly in the child's world and in the domestic emotional space and connects them with history's ongoing underlying discourse on education and the emotions This discourse was developed by theologians, philosophers and moralists like Augustine, Aquinas, Erasmus, Descartes, Jacob Cats, John Locke and Jean Jacques Rousseau by Romantic educationalists like Friedrich Fröbel and Ellen Key and by scientists like Charles Darwin and William James who emphasized the biological instead of the moral fundament of children's emotions The story of children's emotions is told in the context of cultural movements like the Renaissance, Humanism, the Reformation, the Enlightenment, Romanticism and the starting Age of Child Science Children's Emotions in Europe 1500-1900 crucially highlights the continuous co-existence of regulation oriented and child oriented educational views on children's emotions

Princeton's War Program Princeton University,1935 The Justice of War Richard Hall,2019-11-06 The Justice of War: Its Foundations in Ethics and Natural Law puts normative ethical theory at the forefront in its discussion of the justice of war Situating the modern theory of just war in its historical context Richard A S Hall gives full attention to natural law a mainstay of just war theory Hall considers the American philosopher Josiah Royce's implicit theory of just war with its suggestion of a fourth component of just war theory in addition to jus ad bellum, jus in bello and jus post bellum namely jus ad pacem justice law for or about peace concerning the prevention of war and the maintenance of peace This book addresses and answers affirmatively the following questions raised by just war theory Can just war theory be rationally defended against its realpolitik critics Can there be such a thing as a just or moral war The book aims at showing the doubters and critics that just war theory is a viable alternative to both the political realism of realpolitik and pacifism In brief war can be morally justified though under very restrictive conditions Knowledge Nico Stehr,Reiner Grundmann,2005 The increasing investment in scientific knowledge in its production, distribution and reproduction is acquiring greater social significance Everything that is regarded as knowledge in society has become a legitimate subject matter for academic investigations from various disciplines and for practitioners Darwin's Psychology Ben Bradley,2020 This is the first book ever to examine the riches of what Darwin himself wrote about psychological matters It unearths a Darwin new to science whose first concern is the agency of organisms from which he derives both his psychology and his theory of evolution Public Library Catalog ,1969

Evolution From Molecules to Men D. S. Bendall, 1983 Giving a broad view of biological evolution the topics discussed here range from the history of the development of evolutionary thought through current problems in molecular evolution and the evolution of whole organisms to evolution of behaviour sociobiology and man's place in evolution

Sociology and Social Practice Niko Yahiel, 2013-10-22 Sociology and Social Practice A Sociological Analysis of Contemporary Social Processes and Their Interrelationship with Science reviews the interaction of sociological knowledge and social practice with emphasis on the role of the practical functions of sociological science in the various spheres of society This treatise examines from the sociological standpoint some fundamental problems that have arisen in the process of building the new society in Bulgaria and how science can help solve these problems This book is comprised of 10 chapters organized into three sections After an introduction to the theoretical aspects of the relationship between sociological knowledge and social practice political practice and policy making in particular the discussion turns to some topical and interrelated problems such as the scientific and technical revolution the intellectualization of social practice the intensification of socio economic development the efficiency of science and the essence of the multiplier approach The last section explores some key problems of science as a social institution and includes chapters that discuss the scientific manpower potential in Bulgaria scientific information activity and the scientific community as a collective subject of scientific activity This monograph will be useful to sociologists and social scientists

Babies in Groups Ben S. Bradley, Jane Selby, Matthew Stapleton, 2024 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4.0 International licence It is free to read on the Oxford Academic platform and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations Research has shown that young babies well before they form their first bond to a caring adult enjoy participating in groups and group processes Babies in Groups examines the consequences of these findings for science for early education practice and policy and for adult psychotherapy The authors report research showing the extensive capacity of preverbal infants for group communication in all baby trios and quartets backed by findings about primate sociability the social brain cultural histories and human evolution These studies open up new ways of imagining human development as fundamentally group based In addition the authors explore the changes that a group based vision of infancy could bring to early child education and care They also show how ignoring group contexts in many clinical traditions can distort descriptions of what happens in therapy producing such unintended consequences as mother blaming for the future problems an infant may experience as she or he grows up Finally the book's appendix summarises the main forms of evidence which falsify claims that science has proven that an inborn gift for dyadic intersubjectivity or for one to one infant adult attachments founds human social development

Moral Psychology and Human Agency Justin D'Arms, Daniel Jacobson, 2014-11-06 These ten original essays examine the moral and philosophical implications of developments in the science of ethics the growing movement that seeks to use recent empirical findings to answer long standing ethical questions Efforts to make moral psychology a thoroughly empirical discipline have divided philosophers along methodological fault lines isolating discussions that will profit more from intellectual exchange This volume takes an even handed approach including essays from advocates of empirical ethics as well as those who are sceptical of some of its central claims Some of these essays make novel use of empirical findings to develop philosophical research programs regarding such crucial moral phenomena as desire emotion and memory Others bring new critical scrutiny to bear on some of the most influential proposals of the empirical ethics movement including the claim that evolution undermines moral realism the effort to recruit a dual process model of the mind to support consequentialism against other moral theories and the claim that ordinary evaluative judgments are seldom if ever sensitive to reasons because moral reasoning is merely the post hoc rationalization of unthinking emotional response Catalog of Copyright Entries. Fourth Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office,1935

Attachment Film, Emotion, and Cognition Mette Kramer,2024-12-12 Attachment Film Emotion and Cognition is a bold intervention that seeks to center the bodily and affective dimensions of film traditionally regarded as feminine The author uses attachment theory in an interdisciplinary framework with an emphasis on biology and a species based understanding of pro social behavior to approach films about attachment motivations By blending affective and cognitive neuroscience research with tendencies deeply embedded in the humanities this book makes a major contribution to the field of cognitive film theory The focus on attachment theory also makes a meta generic address via its focus on romance and melodrama that makes it useful for other narratives that overlap affective and generic boundaries The book presents a model of attachment film experiences with its inbuilt shifts in affective and cognitive regulative processes and makes an ambitious case for how engagement with attachment film viewing can be understood from both a universal and an individual perspective
