Laughter in Occupied Palestine Chrisoula Lionis, 2016-02-24 Though the current political situation in Palestine is more serious than ever contemporary Palestinian art and film is becoming paradoxically increasingly funny In Laughter in Occupied Palestine Chrisoula Lionis analyses both the impetus behind this shift toward laughter and its consequences arguing that laughter comes as a response to political uncertainty and the decline in nationalist hope Revealing the crucial role of laughter in responding to the failure of the peace process and ongoing occupation she unearths the potential of humour to facilitate understanding and empathy in a time of division This is the first book to provide a combined overview of Palestinian art and film showing the ways in which both art forms have developed in response to critical moments in Palestinian history over the last century These key moments Lionis argues have radically transformed contemporary Palestinian collective identity and in turn Palestinian cultural output Mapping these critical junctions beginning with the Balfour Declaration of 1917 to the Oslo Accords in 1993 she explores the historical trajectory of Palestinian art and film and explains how to the failure of the peace process has led to the present proliferation of humour in Palestinian visual culture terrain The contributors to this volume expose their own ethical thinking as they have met such challenges head on Each explores real dilemmas of ethical practice on the ground as they carry out research on social movements across the globe Authors examining pro democracy activists in Malaysia sanctions breakers in the Gaza Freedom Flotilla environmental health organisations in North America and much else find that the narrow confines of Research Ethics Committees and Institutional Review Boards offer little guidance on the questions that really matter They offer instead a demonstration of continual reflexivity that is both personal and political in its approach This book opens up debate on research ethics delineating key challenges and offering hopeful and practical ways forward for real world ethical social science This bookw as published as a special issue of Social Movement Studies

Critical Dispositions Greg Dimitriadis,2012-06-12 Set against the current proliferation of global difference and economic realignment Critical Dispositions explores the notions of evidence and expertise in times of material scarcity Both have come to the forefront of national and international debate in education as evidence and evidence based research and pedagogical practices continue as major trends in educational policy Author Greg Dimitriadis maintains this debate is best understood as part of a broader rise in professional and managerial discourses in various aspects of educational research and practice Each aims to control and contain some aspect of research and practice in ways that are increasingly specific and targeted As demonstrated through examples from critical intellectuals and artists outside the field of education this current proliferation of specific autonomous fields of inquiry and practice marks a much deeper ambivalence about our contemporary moment and how we understand it Following Bourdieu and other theorists Dimitriadis argues that educational researchers and practitioners today must be increasingly self reflexive about the positions they take up in various fields of inquiry what they allow us to see and to understand what they blind us to This kind of self reflexivity however is becoming increasingly difficult today as material demands and dislocations are forcing educators to occupy particular fields in more specific ways Unpacking this tension and offering alternative thinking tools is at the core of this volume
