Laughlin, Liu Hongtao, Jonathan Stalling, 2016-11-10 The novella as the editors of this volume explain is in many ways the native habitat of modern Chinese literary production the ideal fictional form for revealing the various facets of contemporary Chinese culture The seven novellas collected here resoundingly support their claim Featuring works by award winners and rising stars women and men By the River presents a confluence of some of the most compelling voices in China today Together their narratives reflect the rich diversity of Chinese experience in the modern era These novellas are stories of coming of age in the countryside of romance in the shadow of an electrical power station or in the watery landscape of a lost love of a daughter's epic journey to find her estranged mother Whether telling of love or loss of work or play along the river of experience the narratives are replete with details that bring literary depth to the everyday the mark of the novella These details and the novellas into which they are woven defy simple answers to moral and political questions about modern life leaving readers with the feeling that their world has been made larger that they have seen through different eyes for a moment if not forever Reflecting modern Chinese life in the city and in the country and among diverse regional cultures By the River showcases the best of contemporary Chinese long form fiction A General Survey of the May-beetles (Phyllophaga) of Illinois Stephen Alfred Forbes, 1916 The School News and Practical Educator, 1901 Flora and Fauna of the Civil War Kelby Ouchley, 2010-11 During the Civil War humans impacted plants and animals on an unprecedented scale as soldiers on both sides waged the most environmentally destructive war ever on American soil In Flora and Fauna of the Civil War Kelby Ouchley blends traditional and natural history to create a unique text that explores both the impact of the Civil War on the surrounding environment and the reciprocal influence of plants and animals on the war effort After discussing the physical setting of the war and exploring humans attitudes toward nature during the Civil War period Ouchley presents the flora and fauna by individual species or closely related group in the words of the participants themselves Collectively no better sources exist to reveal human attitudes toward the environment in the Civil War era
